BOB "HOWDY" BRIDGES

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear TNA Member:

It is an honor and a privilege to be your new President.

We have many problems. I do not know the answer to many of these problems, but I feel that I have an exceptionally fine group of people serving with me and, with your help and theirs, I feel confident we can solve these problems. Some of these problems I am going to outline and, if you can come up with any answers, feel free to offer advice.

Like all non-profit organizations, our main problem is money. We always need it, for we spend as much or more than we take in. Your TNA NEWS, for example, costs us more than your annual dues. Our loyal advertisers (whom you should support as much and as often as possible) have made up the deficit. As the fellow says, we have wall-to-wall carpeting and back-to-the-wall financing.

At TNA's April Dallas convention, your Board voted to submit to you, for vote, a By-Laws change to furnish a slight increase in dues and a decrease in admission fee. With that change, you should be able to bring more new members into TNA.

Your Board also voted to submit to you, for vote, Constitution and By-Laws permissive amendments to lighten the work of our TNA Secretary (which now takes three hours a day of her time) by dividing the office into that of Recording and Corresponding Secretaries. Also a permissive amendment to allow some at least token payment to be made to TNA's Secretary or Secretaries if and when the Board feels TNA can afford it.

The more you know about your T. N. A., the better T. N. A. can serve you. And the better you will understand our problems.

What can T. N. A. do for you? Two T.N.A. services will stand out, I hope, in this administration.

1. The largest problem is the coin-robbery. A protective association was one solution I dreamed up, which we hope to implement this year. More about that at a later date, to coincide with an expected A.N.A. announcement.

2. Nobody's numismatic education ever can be completed, but this administration has an ambitious plan in that field. You'll hear about it soon.

What can you do for T.N.A.? You just volunteer your services, and we'll put you right to work! Whether you can give only a little or a lot of your time, your services will be mighty welcome!

P.S. For any show or coin meeting which I can attend, I'll be available for talks.

miniatures OF THE COIN WORLD

By Chris Johns
Houston, Texas
(All Rights Reserved)

Small coins, when first encountered, strike one with their attractiveness, and also their seeming impracticality. First remark often heard when these little ones are exhibited is, "Man, I'd hate to try to keep up with a pocketful of those things!" What we, in our prosperity, fail to realize is that often the possessor had only one tiny coin to contend with, and he certainly was not going to misplace his entire fortune.

Where there was no strong reliable central government, the medium of exchange, to be acceptable to the people, had to have in it metal of an intrinsic value equal to its face value. Paper money was not acceptable, nor would base metallic pieces fill the need. Please remember, also, that in past centuries, people in many lands knew no economy other than hard times, times in which one of these little silver or gold coins with a value of, say, 10 or 15 cents might have been full pay for a day's work. Therefore, having to be of a precious metal and having to be of low denomination to be useful in everyday transactions, they were necessarily small.

Most of the coins included here are not included with regard to comparative value, date of manufacture or historical significance. A comparison of the physical characteristics of the coins will show that no one of them is the champion for smallness in all respects. Thus no one type can lay undisputed claim to the title, SMALLEST IN THE WORLD, though that type might be the smallest known in respect to weight, or diameter, or thickness, or value, or historical period or geographical location.

For example, the United States Type One gold dollar, figure 1, is the smallest official U. S. coin in diameter; the silver three cent piece, figure 2, is the lightest; and the half cent is the lowest U. S. denomination.

This collection was begun in 1959 with the purchase of two California gold tokens, figure 3, a quarter dollar size, 10 mm., and a half dollar size, 12 mm. Although these and the Maximilian tokens described immediately following are not and did not circulate as a medium of exchange, to the writer they are important as the beginning of a fascinating variant on our hobby. So-called jewelers' pieces have the word EUREKA or a bear pictured on them. None can be attributed with certainty to any individual or firm. The genuine California small denominations have the denomination spelled DOL. or DOLLAR.

After securing the California tokens, an ad in a numismatic publication offered the gold and silver Maximilian tokens, figure 4, from Mexico. When I had determined that they were tiny in size, 10 1/2 mm., the urge to own them became strong and in due time, they were added to the California tokens. The Maximilians were struck in 1865 to honor the Emperor, and are often wrongly identified as pesos, or 1/4 real, or 1/4 peso.

From Tarim, a 6-chomsihs, 12 mm. figure 5, was minted from 1898 to 1904 with other denominations of 12 and 24 chomsihs. Tarim is a city located in the Hadramaut in the southern part of Arabia (East Aden Protectorate.) This small city has been a passageway rather than a developed city. To give you an idea of the face value, 120 chomsihs equal a ryal, which equals a Maria Theresa thaler.

From Mexico comes the quartillo, 1/4 real, figure 6. These little coins 12 mm., were issued from several mints from 1842 to 1863. Many were used on bracelets and are usually found holed. The majority are usually well worn. Due to the tiny letters, it is often difficult to identify the mint mark. This one is GA, which is Guadalajara and (from Neil Utberg's mint rarity scale) is considered rare.

The Travancore (India Native State) cash, figure 7, 11 mm., shows two line native inscription on one side and the conch shell inside an eight-pointed star on the other. The conch shell is a religious symbol. Current exchange is around 40 cash to one U. S. cent!

Siamese porcelain gambling tokens figure 8, circulated as money in business establishments surrounding the gambling houses which were most often run by Chinese. The businessmen were assured of redemption of the tokens, and, as change was very scarce, they circulated freely.

The Travancore chuckram, figure 9, 6 mm., is popularly called the smallest coin in the world, but it is not even the smallest silver coin in diameter, nor weight!

The Great Britain three half penny, figure 10, 13 mm., was never issued for circulation in England. They were struck for use in Ceylon, British Guiana and the British West Indies, which used the ordinary British currency. They were a rough equivalent to the India anna, and the Spanish American 1/4 real used in Jamaica. They are also similar to the Maundy coins except for the crowned "1 1/2" on the reverse.

Various types of the Guatemala 1/4 real, figure 11, 12 mm., were minted from 1872 until 1894. Most varieties feature mountains and sun on the obverse. Reverse shows denomination in wreath, below can be either mint mark (meness or stars).

Siamese bullet money is most attractive and unusual. The bullets were made by pouring melted metal into an oblong mold, waiting until it was set, scoring it in the center, then mashing together and imprinting the identifying marks. The larger one, figure 12, is a 1/32 baht, with the waterpot which is called P'ra Tao, the personal mark of Mongkut Rama IV, who ruled Siam from 1851 until 1868. The smaller bullet, figure 13, is a 1/61 baht, and is marked with the Chakra, which is an emblem of the Hindu god Vishnu. These coins ceased to be minted in 1859-60 and were re-called and melted. The present flat Siamese coins were begun during this period.

The 1/4 real from Lima, Peru, figure 14, 13 mm., minted in 1827, has a llama on the obverse.

Notice the monogram Potosi mint mark on the 1/4 real minted in 1799, at San Luis Potosi. This coin, figure 15, 12 mm., features the lion and castle so popular on coins of this era, the time of Charles IV.

The Swedish 10 ore, figure 16, 13 mm., is dated 1871 and was minted during the reign of Carl XV.

Another 1/4 real from Lima, figure 17, 13 mm., features the lion and castle and the "L" mint mark dated 1820.

The 2 1/2 centesimo from Panama is a one-year type, minted in 1901, the year after Panama gained her independence from Colombia. This small coin figure 18, is called the "Pill" because of its unusual thickness in a coin of this small size (10 mm.) Panama is still minting the 2 1/2 centesimo, but in a larger size!

The minting process of this 1/16 shahi figure 19 of Hyderabad (India Native State) is interesting. The die is inscribed and when a fractional coin is desired the proper amount of metal (in this case gold) is placed in the center of the dies. WHAP! Out comes the coin with a portion of the design imprinted to the very edges. Thus, the larger the denomination, the more of the design shows! This was minted in the period between 1868 and 1911 and measures 7 mm.

Of the political history of the Kerala kingdom, nothing is known beyond a list of rajas, compiled from inscriptions. In the Tenth Century, it was conquered by the Cholas and held by them until overthrown by the Mohammedans in 1310. These were driven out by a Hindu confederation and Kerala was absorbed into this empire until the Mohammedans destroyed it in 1565. Kerala was originally in the country now included in Travancore. This gold fanam, figure 20, 9 mm., was minted around 900 A. D. (There are enough miniature gold coins from the Native States of India alone to make an outstanding collection, and they are comparatively inexpensive.)

This Ichi (1 Bu) from Japan, figure 21, measures 7 by 12 mm., and has a flower with native inscriptions; is from the era of 1800-1867. A friend who was stationed with the Air Force in Tokyo was given this little coin after a tour through the Imperial Palace. He collected buffalo nickels and I wanted the tiny Bu, so a trade was made - my buffalo nickels for that little gold bar. I'm happy with the trade!

This (figure 22) is a genuine California gold quarter dollar, 10 mm. The hole is regrettable, but true. These small denominations were issued in quarters, halves and dollars, in many cases by the same people who issued the 5, 10 and 20 dollar pieces in the early days of gold coins. They are both round and octagonal shapes in the small California gold. The genuine have the denomination spelled DOL. or DOLLAR. Some were not dated - this bears the date 1871.

One of the most colorful of historical events is the yearly Maundy ceremony, in which the monarch of Great Britain distributes her Easter alms. Many articles have been written on the pageantry of this event - secure and read one to garner all the details. The Maundy coins are issued in denominations 1, 2, 3 and 4 pence. These coins are in great demand and the price is increasing rapidly. However, the only one small enough to be included with these miniatures is the one penny. This one, figure 23, 12mm., is dated 1840 and was issued in Victoria's reign.

One often hears the old saw that the exception proves the rule. Here is an exception that is particularly interesting. The Netherlands five cents figure 24, 13 mm., is smaller than the one and two cents of the same era! This was minted in 1850 under William III.

A most interesting piece of money, and one of the hardest to explain to collectors and non-collectors alike, is the money cowrie! There are five types of money cowries, and the value depends on the type, not the size. Thus, this little one, figure 25, is as valuable as one five times its size of the same type. A common remark on seeing the money cowries is that the beholder could pick up millions of them on the beach down in Galveston! This certainly is a slur on one of the oldest and most widely accepted forms of money in the world. There are jars of cowries being raised from the sunken Spanish treasure ships discovered by treasure salvagers.

The two chukrams from Travancore, figure 26, 11 mm., is from the rule of Rama Varma, 1881-1924. Two chukrams equal about one half mjwe.

Figure 27 is a 1/5 fella from Morocco, era of the late 1880's. "If that is a fifth fella, wonder what the fella looks like?"

Podukota (India Native State) began the minting of these one ammans, figure 28, 13 mm. in 1902. Notice the figure of the god.

COMMENTARIUM.....

Educational Campaigns On Counterfeits Suggested

Submitted by Brad Mills, Author of a Column appearing in The Dallas Morning News

Educational campaigns to teach collectors to spot altered or counterfeit coins should do much to prevent the acquisition of spurious items that have in some way come on the market. Many of the phony "rarities" are very deceptive; others are easily detected by an experienced numismatist. A close examination will disclose from two to a dozen slight or marked irregularities that finally show the spurious coins for what they really are.

Some of the most difficult fakes to recognize are the out-and-out counterfeits that have been made from scratch by casting or die methods. In many cases they are almost too attractive to be genuine, frequently being over-colored or too freshly coined to match the real items that are sought. A careful examination under a glass will reveal numerous discrepancies in lettering and various shifted positions of the Principal emblems, etc. In all authentication efforts, it is important to work from a genuine coin for comparison.

In buffing off or adding mint marks, as the faked rarity may require, some telltale marks are always left. In most cases the genuine coin carries enough of its own peculiarities to cause it to stand apart from the fake even though the latter may be from the same mint. The 1937D 3-legged Buffalo nickel is a classic example of the coin that has at least 10 distinguishing features. When the Buffalo's leg is filed off the regular issue 1937D, the faked coin quickly fails to meet requirements of the genuine specimen. The real rarity cannot be copied successfully with use of another coin.

Coloring and processing slightly worn coins to make them appear uncirculated has become almost an art with the deceivers, who will argue their touched up examples are in fact uncirculated. A close examination will reveal wear and small marks that show through the fancy heating and coloring processes.

The difference in value of an uncirculated rarity and a worn one may be several hundred dollars, so it is obvious that some owners would like to upgrade their circulated specimens to make them appear strictly uncirculated. Many new collectors show colored and stained coins as uncirculated examples but the experienced numismatists usually come along to puncture the bubble and give the novices a bit of quick education.

Slightly worn copper coins may be dipped, stained and heated to give an attractive appearance, but they are still circulated specimens. It is wise to inspect carefully all copper rarities which have suspicious coloring.

NEWS ROUNDUP – A.N.A.

By GEORGE MATHER
Corpus Christi, Texas
A.N.A. Representative

George Mather

Remember! - Your National Coin Week reports must be in the hands of the chairmen prior to May 24. I sincerely hope that Texas A.N.A. members in both club and individual categories are well represented and that top awards will be returned to Texas from the August A.N.A. convention. Those who participate will have already received their rewards in fun and fellowship, profits of pleasure and sense of sharing. A national award from A.N.A. will simply be frosting for the cake.

With the T.N.A. convention and a number of local coin shows behind us, one of the numismatic events of importance ahead is the dedication of the new A.N.A. home and headquarters in Colorado Springs.

With numismatic dignitaries as witnesses this event will take place within sight of Pike's Peak and Cheyenne Mountain at 2 p.m. on Saturday, June 10. Visitors to Colorado Springs for the ceremony may also attend the annual convention of the Southern Colorado Numismatic Association, a three day event starting on June 9, which will be held in the new Antlers Hotel.

The beauty and majesty of the area surrounding Colorado Springs could make this an ideal vacation trip for all those interested in visiting this new A.N.A. landmark. Not too distant also are the Denver mint, the Cripple Creek mining area and Royal Gorge.

Interest (and I hope collectors) will turn southward August 8 through 12 for the interesting, educational, and profitable stay at the American Hotel in Miami Beach.

Of 185 from around the world who made application, 140 member dealers received board approval for the bourse space at the 76th A.N.A. convention. These include representatives from Austria, England, Canada, Germany and Norway as well as 27 states, including Hawaii, and the District of Columbia.

The convention will have something for everyone's interest - coins, paper money, exhibits, education, fellowship, and above all an atmosphere of mutual interest. Any A.N.A. convention is a joyful experience.

This country, this age, can be wonderful beyond compare. May God give us the wisdom to make it so where we are.

MINIATURES OF COIN WORLD—

atoll southwest of India. Formerly a dependency of Ceylon, it is now a British Protectorate. This one lari, figure 29, 11 mm., was minted 1900-01

This is only a small part of the miniature coins minted throughout the world. For example, there is a gold four real from Guatemala. Nepal struck both gold and silver coins that are approximately 6 mm. in diameter and about as thick as this sheet of paper! As I mentioned before, the Indian Native States offer a host of miniatures. The collecting of miniature coins is an interesting and most inexpensive specialty.

The Amarillo Coin Club has again made a great contribution to the slide set program by donating taped commentaries to accompany sets # 21 and # 27. Last month, the club members forwarded the tape for set # 23. These were made possible through the cooperation of the American Numismatic Association. When ordering these sets, please specify if the tapes are desired.

We would like to call your attention to several things concerning the slide sets. First, may we ask that they be returned promptly (within five days) after showing, second, please ask the post office department, when returning the sets, not to write, stamp or paste anything on these cases, third, when ordering sets, please include the zip code as the sets are not sent first class and will be returned to the Library. This could cause a delay in the set arriving for a club meeting. (Also, as a saving to the club treasury, always ask for the library rate, which is much cheaper than regular parcel post.

From March 5 to April 5, we had 19 requests for slide sets.

Please add the following to your library list.

DISTRICT EIGHT:

A dinner meeting highlighted by installation of new officers was held by members of the Brownsville Coin Club in March at the Wagon Restaurant with 36 in attendance.

Mrs. Miriam Gilmore was installing officer. She noted that the club was organized in January, 1960 with 45 charter members. The first president was Robert C. Dedmon; vice president, H. E. Berry; and secretary-treasurer, Emily Pitt. Mrs. Gilmore installed the 1967 officers after advising them of their duties in the club. Taking over were Rev. Harry H. Smith, president; Dedmon, vice-president, Mrs. Doris V. Drachenberg secretary, F. H. Fullen, treasurer; and James R. Hughes, Mrs. Ava Etheridge and William R. Dorris, directors.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jackson of Beaver Dam, Wisc. Mrs. Jackson displayed her exhibit of Canadian commemorative coins which won best in show at Corpus Christi recently. — Doris V. Drachenberg, Sec.

Reports on the just completed coin show received the full attention of Corpus Christi Coin Club at its March 14 meeting in Gullway National Bank. Joe B. Davis, show chairman, thanked all who helped in any way.

Honorary memberships were voted for Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Love because of their taking full responsibility for preparation of packets, which were very favorably received by the dealers and other assistance. Bourse chairman, Lamar Folda, reported that 34 dealers participated in the show. Bill Tunnell was commended for the competent handling of security for the show.

The report of exhibit chairman Mrs. Fred Floerke, listed 31 competitive exhibits, 21 of them displayed for the first time and nine first time exhibitors. The scoring was based on the A.N.A. rules, each exhibit judged on its own merits alone. She said that point totals were so close that they were rechecked in several instances.

Mrs. Floerke reported that 78 attended the breakfast where awards were made as follows: Best of Show, a trophy given by Citizens State Bank, went to Mrs. Virgil Jackson of Beaver Dam, Wisconsin, plaques for Outstanding exhibits went to Norma Mather, Gerald Kendall of Houston.

Among special guests attending the annual Corpus Christi Coin Club show in March held at the Robert Driscoll Hotel were left to right, Mrs. Tila Jones of Corpus Christi, formerly of Bogata, Colombia; Jorge Callejas of Medellin, Colombia, who is visiting in the States; Dr. Adolfo Diaz of Barranquilla, Colombia, who is serving a two-year residency at Driscoll Children's Hospital in Corpus Christi; and young Miss Delsa Diaz, daughter of Dr. Diaz. (Photo Courtesy Liberty Coin Club, Corpus Christi.)

Clay Stubblefield, C. H. Roberts, Dr. John W. Tunnell of Taft, and George Mather. Superior exhibit plaques went to Leo Teltschik, Billie Bruns of Mission, Jack Morgan, Ed Kane, Lucky Drachenberg, of San Perlita, and Bob Robbins; Meritorious exhibit awards, Bob Robbins, Ritchey Clendening of Aransas Pass, Mrs. E. O. Ross, Virgil Jackson of Beaver Dam, Wisconsin, Don Brian and William Huegele. Among the junior exhibitors an Outstanding award was went to Sharon Drachenberg of San Perlita; the Meritorious award was won by her brother, Gary; James Haman of Robstown showed the Meritorious exhibit. Appropriate paper weights were given for nine non-competitive exhibits.

Cecil Burney, local attorney, began his remarks at the breakfast in a humorous vein but when he waxed serious he bade winners be humble in their success and losers to seriously endeavor to improve their exhibits so that they may become winners. He spoke of "The Tall Man from Illinois" who failed to achieve his goal many times but who is memorialized by one of the most impressive monuments in our nation's capital and honored by people around the world every year. He concluded, "Are we tall enough?"

Virgil Hancock's slide illustrated talk on "Trade Coins of the World" on Sunday afternoon was warmly received.

Lamar Folda presented the program March 27 in "Recent Production and Usage of Silver and Gold." He used wall graphs compiled from U. S. Department of Interior figures on production, Department of Commerce figures on usage and Department of the Treasury figures on coinage from 1940 through 1966. These dramatized the great increase in consumption of silver in industry, sluggish production (because it is not profitable at the fixed price of $1.2929 per Troy ounce) and consquent decline in supplies.

Charts showed new gold mines in South Africa producing two-thirds of the free-world's supply. There are no production reports from Communist countries but Russia is known to be selling gold to the free world. This is going into private hands to be held against the inevitable price rise as well as being used for jewelry, etc., but very little for coins. — Norma Mather, Pub. Chmn.

The Port Isabel Coin Club was planning an all-day treasure hunting safari April 9 on Padre Island, according to Don Pruitt, club president.

The group, which was to include members of the McAllen, Harlingen, Brownsville, Willacy and Weslaco coin clubs, were to drive north on the island in search of matters of interest to coin collectors.

During the month, three members donated books to the T.N.A. Memorial Library in the name of the club.

The program for March 7 was presented by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Park who showed and narrated a slide set, "Coins With Special Significance" which had been borrowed from the T.N.A. Library.

Club members have been busy with National Coin Week plans and activities. A group attended Youth City and gave albums for cents to the children, along with coins to begin their collections. A junior member, James Hannan, showed an exhibit "Wildlife on Coins" and Mr. and Mrs. Park showed the slide set previously shown at the club meeting.

Members displayed 17 exhibits at Raymondville State Bank on March 2, 3 and 4 in cooperation with Willacy County Coin Club. Sixteen exhibits were seen by 917 school children on March 6 as a feature of Willacy County's Public School Week program. Members also exhibited 22 displays at the Corpus Christi Coin Club show on March 11-12. An exhibit by George Mather appeared at Citizens State Bank during the month.

Letters were sent to 35 area mayors plus Corpus Christi and Yokosuka, Japan, the sister city of Corpus Christi, asking that they proclaim Coin Week in their cities April 22-29. Books are being donated to school libraries also, as part of the N.C.W. effort. So far 18 members have made 23 numismatic talks before coin clubs and nine talks before non-numismatic audiences.

The hearts of the Liberty Club members were saddened on announcement of the sudden passing of one of their long time members, Dan B. Barron, March 11. — Gladys Robbins, Corres. Sec.

"Odd Shaped Coins of the 20th Century," a slide set furnished by the T.N.A. Memorial Library, was shown by F. H. Fullen, narrated by Doris V. Drachenberg, at the monthly meeting recently of Willacy County Coin Club. The group met at the Dew Drop Inn in Lyford with 20 present.
